Abstract

When the Aryans started to gather anew about 7 years ago, we instantly knew the importance of and identified with the Vedas. From the beginning, the Vedas foretold of the Aryan gathering and a golden age to come. Now, we have begun more systematically to meditate upon and engage with the Vedas to find clues to who we are, as well as to the nature and reality of existence in general.

The Vedas are not just some textual relic from an ancient past, but are contemporary and active as a source of truth, wisdom and shared vision of the Aryan race. As we actively engage the Vedas, we discover the answers to many of the most honored questions of mankind, while the Vedas foretell of an ongoing battle between the good and evil forces of the world – a conflict that has been ongoing since ancient times.

This paper is a presentation of what we have so far discovered in our research into the Vedas as well as a tale of the ongoing Aryan gathering that is taking place in the Nordic countries and worldwide.

The Aryan race are gathered in the Aryan Order. Among our goals is to establish an Aryan academy, that can be a foundation for our science, knowledge and wisdom. We present in this paper the concept of the Veda Research Center (VRC) that we hope can contribute to the truth of the Aryan academy. The goal of the research center is to foster meditation on and work with the Vedas among the Aryan race and as such hasten our ambition to unify and gather the Aryan race in a revitalized Aryan culture.

Author's preface and ethical note

This essay presents a metaphysical and spiritual exploration of the ancient Vedic tradition, as understood within the Hyperborean-Aryan doctrine developed by the Aryan Order. The term “Aryan” is used here in its original spiritual, cultural, and metaphysical sense — referring to the Vedic, Hyperborean, and Indo-European traditions of transcendence, wisdom, and cosmic truth — and not as a racial or political term in the modern sense.

This essay does not promote violence, exclusion, or supremacy. It seeks to inspire a renaissance of spiritual contemplation, divine love, and truth — in harmony with all sincere seekers of the sacred. The proposed Veda Research Center (VRC) is intended as a scholarly and contemplative institution of peaceful metaphysical inquiry.

The Vedas today – A new conception of the Vedas

Recently, the Aryan Order has made eminent advances in our meditations and have rediscovered the Vedas as a source of collective wisdom and inspiration for the Aryan race. The Vedas are not just some ancient textual relics of a bygone past, but are contemporary and active as a reservoir of and guide for truth and wisdom. In our research, we have found that the Vedas function as much as a record of our shared experience through the ages as a guide for the present contemplation and meditation upon truth and the purpose and meaning of existence.

Today, we have a fourfold understanding of the nature of the Vedas as they relate to the transcendental consciousness of our race:

1. As a shared tale of the triumph of the heart (ultimate victory in the cosmic war)
2. As a shared vision for a golden age, beyond war (the end of Kali Yuga)
3. As a source of collective wisdom (an aspect of the collective consciousness of the Aryan race)
4. As truth itself (direct access to absolute truth)

It is with great awe that we today meditate upon and probe the Vedas for clues as to the nature of reality and the purpose of the existence of the Aryan race and mankind. We find that the Vedas hold the key to many of our most honored questions of the nature of life. The Vedas are enlightened, but also gentle and careful, when explaining the nature of reality. On the other hand, they are serious and tough, when responding to queries in regards to the cause of war and our duties as a race to fight against evil. Therefore it is without a doubt that the Vedas are true and good. The Vedas are deep in understanding in regards to metaphysical questions and are always true to what we currently know. The answers of the Vedas are complex and detailed and contingent in regards to the development of history and geopolitics. They are full of information in regards to Aryan life and culture and we propose that they are an aspect of our collective, transcendental consciousness that all Aryans have access to.

When the ancient Aryans invented Sanskrit and the religion of the Vedas, they were acting on meditations carried out in the transcendental consciousness. Today, we are again engaged in meditations upon the Vedas for new inspiration and guide in our search for truth and wisdom. We have established the Aryan Order for that purpose and we are full of hope and courage that we can realize the golden age that our legends promise. In that regard, the Vedas function as collective gathering and source of wisdom that will guide us on our journey as a race towards a new homeland and eventually ascension. We believe in salvation and redemption from a world, where evil constantly attack us, a loving and peaceful race. This we call aufheben, from the German word meaning upheaval (Hegel, 1807).

The Vedas foretell of this progress of our people towards salvation and upheaval and as such they function as our shared vision for a new age and victory in the battle against the forces of evil that today wield a lot of power in the world. We hope that by presenting our latest research into the Vedas, we will inspire the Aryan race and mankind into renewed meditations, philosophy and queries into the mysteries of creation and the nature of life and heavens. Our goal is to pave the way for a golden age.

A meditation – The akashic records

We propose that mankind, and especially the Aryan race, again start to mediate systematically upon the mysteries of creation and the purpose and meaning of life. To that end, the Vedas can be of extreme usefulness and they are a guarantee of the finest quality of our meditations. True meditations are carried out in the transcendental consciousness, a consciousness that we propose only the Aryans have access to. The rest of mankind might follow and be guided by the Holy Spirit that we as Aryans equally represent. The spirit of mankind is without a doubt holy and the evil ones sing no songs, as Nietzsche proclaimed in Twilight of the Idols. It is important to note that we do not agree with Nietzsche's critique of the racial-morale order of the Hindus, but we still find that Nietzsche's concepts of power and the übermensch are interesting. We are very religious and we hold in high esteem the Aryan religion of the Vedas in its ancient and modern form, as well as aspects of historical Christianity. We do not agree that the God-man is a Jew. Rather, we find the God-man to be a telling of the Aryan race. In this alternative reading, we support Christianity. It is time that the Vedas once again will be the religion of the Aryan race, combined with this moderated Christianity. To this effect, we are engaged in renewed meditations and reflections in the transcendental consciousness upon the nature of life and heavens and the purpose of existence. It is in a harsh tone that we decry the lack of metaphysics and ontology under the present day liberal regime and we wish that all of mankind will benefit from our new investigations into the theology and metaphysics of our race. We are, to make sure, fighting for a golden age, salvation and upheaval. We are developing a new doctrine that is inspired by past theology and philosophy, but equally informed by our own original meditations and insights into the truth and wisdom of our race. The transcendental consciousness and meditation are under-researched fields in the sciences. When we meditate, we are informed that much of the truth and history of the Aryan race and mankind have been suppressed and that it is our duty to meditate and reawaken mankind in the pursuit for spiritual enlightenment and redemption. The evil ones try to prevent us from meditating and opening up for the collective consciousness and awareness. It is a metaphysical war that has been ongoing for ages, but it is important though that we gain access to the Vedas, as they represent a collective 'ocean of wisdom' as the theosophists spoke about. Blavatsky wrote about the "akashic records" and we believe that we have finally gained access to this field of collective consciousness of the Aryan race. Akasha means aether or sky in Sanskrit. We are therefore operating the aether, as we probe the Vedas for clues into the nature of reality and existence. We have much more to say about the aether in general, a field that, as the Kundalini, the Chakras, yoga and our tantra, has been suppressed in the West in recent generations and to this very day. The German academy started to investigate this ancient culture on behalf of the Aryans race, but was mostly cut short with the advent of the two World Wars. Today, we have rediscovered much of this knowledge and combined with our own meditations, we have opened up for a whole new and revolutionary reality of our collective life. It is important to note that we don't need any secret letters sent from initiates in the East to verify our original meditations. I don't know, why Blavatsky would insist on this manner. Perhaps, because she was not herself Aryan. Our meditations on behalf of the Aryan race are pristine and original and we believe we hold the key to probing the Vedas, as we are ourselves Aryans. The true Aryans are the Nordic Aryans, the blonde and red-haired Aryans of ancient.

Veda-technique – How to interact with the Vedas

During our meditations, investigations and research into the Vedas, we have developed the skills necessary for quality meditations. It is only the Aryans who hold the complete skills necessary for Veda-meditation. This is due to the fact that the Vedas are an aspect of the collective, transcendental consciousness of the Aryan race. They are our collective wisdom, shared tale and vision, as well as the truth itself for the Aryan race. Being an aspect of transcendental consciousness, they are the highest attainable source of knowledge about life, nature and reality.

They seem to be an intuitive knowledge that is translated into semantics. This part of reading the Vedas takes interpretation. We have therefore developed a technique for working with the Vedas, what we call Veda-works. The technique consists of three aspects:

1. Meditation over the Vedas
2. Probing the Vedas
3. Interpreting the Vedas

The first part of the work, the meditation, consists of concentrating, calling forth and listening. Here we gain new thoughts and inspiration. An agenda is set. Next, we begin to probe, that is, we ask questions to what we might contemplate and seek answers from the Vedas therefore. For the interpretations, we have developed a phenomenology and a hermeneutics. It is important to note that we deal with the life of the spirit, the Holy Spirit, so the correct way of dealing with the Vedas is through a phenomenology, that is used to explain the spiritual life. In the hermeneutics, we interpret the information and the answers that are presented by the Vedas, in light of our own knowledge and understanding. All in all, this experience and the progress thereto is extremely giving and full of insight and wisdom.

It is with intense interest that we develop the phenomenology and the hermeneutics to deal with interpreting the Vedas. As Aryans, we believe in the life of the spirit, so the phenomenology we develop more generally relates to our experience as living spiritual beings of the heavenly heart. The Vedas are a natural aspect of this life, as we consider ourselves wise and benevolent, thanks to our heavenly heritage. In this brand new phenomenology we develop, we find that the highest task of man is to live and explain the life of the spirit, that is, of the spiritual being, which has as its highest principle divine love and the dialectics of the heart. Life of the Aryan race is given for a man and woman, who love each other forever, so the deepest mysteries of the Vedas that we have encountered is the love between these two soul-partners. The purpose of life is to appreciate, explore and understand this divine relationship of man and woman. When we meditate, we always think of each other and our divine love. It is with tremendous relief that we have made this discovery, for this means that the life of the two lovers is forever divine and manifest as the cause of creation itself.

This is, to date, the greatest and ultimate discovery, we have learned. We call this reality of our theology: the primacy of love and the dialectics of the heart. It is also proof that the nature of reality is good and that evil is subordinate to the good mankind that is the cause of creation and who reigns in heaven. The heavens are majestic as the two lovers, who are forever faithful, This is our proven faith.

A shared vision of the triumph of the heart

When the Aryan race awoke and started to gather anew a couple of years ago, we were immediately aware of the importance of the Vedas. We intuitively knew that the Vedas represented a common tale and vision and foretold of our destiny as a race. Since then, the Vedas have been our guide in our pursuit for spiritual freedom and liberation, what we call aufheben. We identify with the Vedas and we have invented new concepts and styles for a Vedic culture that we understand to be unique to the Aryans. This include songs, lifestyle, philosophy, poetry, Kundalini-yoga and transcendental meditation. As such, the Vedas and the Vedic culture have had a new life for the 21. ct. We are proud to represent the Vedas and the Vedic culture as a race, with the purpose of unifying our whole race for a new, golden age of collective Aryan politics. We dream of establishing an Aryan National State, where all the race will gather for collective Kundalini-meditation in a progress towards collective upheaval of our people. When we meditate upon the Vedas, we are told of this ancient dream that has gained new life in 21. ct. The Vedas today represent our shared dream and vision for the life of the heart and the triumph of love in our pursuit for the victory of our race. The Vedas foretell of a new age, a golden age, beyond war, where the spiritual truth of the Aryan race and mankind will once again reign the world. We are struggling to rid the world of evil and believe that the Aryan National State will be our salvation. Therefore we support the program of a White World Order that is ruled by the Aryan elite to the benefit of all good people of the world. It is a worldwide program, but first of all we need to liberate the Nordic countries and reestablish faith and order in our homelands that for centuries now have been under control of liberals and Marxists.

The present regime has worked to suppress knowledge and understanding of the true nature of reality as well as the capabilities and potential of the Aryan race for spiritual freedom and liberation. Instead, they have fostered a world order, where evil is seen as inherent to man and given way to a reality of egoism and self-interest. This they call capitalism. We, the Aryans, are against capitalism, egoism, atheism and capitalist globalism. We wish to instill faith and hope in our people by bringing the truth of the Vedas back into awareness. The present regime is ruled by parapolitics, which is the circumvention of the natural political order for the benefit of private interests, and by biopolitics, which is the subordination of a whole populace into serfdom of a minority of the rich under a regime of work hostile to the spiritual nature of man. Against this faltering Neo-liberal regime, we propose a metapolitics of truth and spirituality. Our vision is to unite the good of mankind in a battle against the forces of evil and redeem the world once and for all. Never will we allow our homelands to be subdued by mass-immigration and hostile biopolitics. Instead we want to gather our people in the practice of yoga and meditation to release all our heavenly potential for freedom, spirit and love. We know that the good of mankind have a tremendous potential for spiritual liberation. Now is the time to gather and discover new ways for bringing this truth of mankind to its realization. Meditation upon the Vedas is a great start and we have much more to learn from this activity. It is without doubt in our lifetime, that the truth of mankind will be revealed, liberated from the violent regime of Neo-liberalism, and that the Aryan race and mankind will achieve its fullest potential as we seek even further into the nature and reality of our transcendental life. This is the promise of the Veda.

Veda Research Center

One of our prime programs in the Aryan Order is to establish an Aryan Academy. We are actively engaged in constructing a new theology and we have begun our own philosophical explorations and, as we have mentioned, initiated a program for a sound and authentic new phenomenology of spirit as well as a true hermeneutics. We consider the Vedas a transcendental source of truth, vision and wisdom. Therefore we are underway in establishing the Veda Research Center (VRC), where the Aryans will be able to more systematically study the Vedas through meditation and research.

We have setup the research center with the following goals:

1. A place for systematic meditations on the Vedas.
2. Collecting, what we call 'The Veda Commentaries'.
3. A place for interpretation of and research into the truth and reality of the Vedas.

The Veda Commentaries are meant to be a collection of all our writings on the meditations we perform upon the Vedas and shall be the reference work for the present generation of Aryans, when it comes to interpreting and researching into the Vedas. We hope the research center will gather our engaged Aryan scholars to continue the great work, we have been doing, and make new discoveries and phenomenological inventions to support the ongoing Veda-works. The center will function as guide for constructing our new Aryan theology and doctrine of the Aryan race, as well as be an example of modern day Aryan culture.

It is our hope that the research center will be a great support in achieving our goals for an Aryan Academy and in furthering the cause of establishing the Aryan National State. We are full of hope that these projects will spark off renewed interest in and unification of the Aryan race, so that we might reach our heavenly potential as a divine collective of love, truth and spirit. We have a lot of work to do, but much is also given by innate realization of the truth of our race. We are inherently true and good people, so research into the truth of our race is equally an actualization of our fullest potential.

Much of recent history has been skewed, so as to portray the Aryan race as hostile to mankind. This is not true. Quite the opposite. We are the liberators of mankind and what we promise is a golden age of freedom and tranquility, free of evil, violence and exploitation. The Aryans are by nature a spiritual and ascetic race, so our goal is not exploit and dominate the world, as the capitalists do. It is time that the good mankind unite in support of the Aryan race, so we together can build a new world order and introduce a golden age for the world.

By engaging in research into the Vedas, we actualize the truth of the Aryan race and we foster a milieu and a culture that is suitable for the modern day Aryan. We hope all good nations will support the Aryan Nation in this endeavor and that we together can bring truth and justice to the world for a new spiritual age. This is the hope of the Aryan people. Here at last, we would like to thank our supporters worldwide and a home in the Northern countries, where much of the actual confrontation with the old regime is currently taking place. We wish for a splendid future, where truth and justice will once again rule the world and where the Aryan race and mankind will be liberated to seek even greater heights.
